

DIED IN THE LAKE

George Jacobsohn Drowned at Reed's Lake

SOME TIME SUNDAY EVENING

He Was Missing, and Search Being Instituted by Friends, His Body Was Found in the Lake.

George Jacobsohn, aged 19 years, for the last three years clerk in Wolf's drug store at the corner of West Bridge and Front streets, was drowned while bathing at Manitowish beach, Reed's lake, Sunday evening. He rode to the lake on his bicycle, starting from the drug store at about 3 p. m. He rented a bathing suit from the proprietor, Thomas Reed, and went into the water immediately after his arrival at the bathing grounds. He was noticed by Reed about twenty feet beyond the safety rope swimming easily but no attention was given to him. He was not seen alive after this. He was to appear at the store for work again at 7 p. m., but he did not appear. A search was instituted about 9 o'clock by his brother Edward and friends who were alarmed at his long absence. They went to the lake, but could find no trace of him there. Edward Jacobsohn went to the lake again yesterday morning at about 5 o'clock and saw a bicycle leaning against the bath house which resembled the one ridden by his brother.

Found His Clothes.
He awakened the proprietor and was permitted to enter the bath house. Here he found his brother's clothing, and he at once surmised he was drowned. A search in the lake with grappling hooks was instituted and the body was found at 7:30 about twenty feet beyond the edge of the bathing dock. The condition and shape of the body indicated that young Jacobsohn had been attacked with cramps. Coroner Bradish was summoned, but thought an inquest unnecessary. The remains were taken to Undertaker Koen's establishment and his parents notified. The deceased was a bright young man and well known by west side residents. He passed the examination for a druggist's assistant before the state board of pharmacy last spring. He had been living with his parents on Broadway street and the sadness of his unexpected death so affected one of his sisters, who is ill with consumption, that her death may occur at any time.

Accused of Stealing Letters.
Henry Warner, a 15-year-old boy of Spring Lake, was arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Judd yesterday on a charge of taking letters from the postoffice addressed to Hans Wilson. He is charged with having taken three letters containing checks ranging in value from $5 to $12. It is also charged that he endorsed one of the number and drew the cash on it. He gave the check to an accomplice who collected its face value. The checks were sent to Wilson from Chicago and Milwaukee in payment for fruit shipped to those points. Warner was examined before United States Commissioner McQueen, and was held to appear at the October term of the United States court for trial. He gave bail to the amount of $200 for his appearance for trial.

Sue Didn't Know Him.
Gallant Patrolman Whitcomb was out in citizen's clothing Saturday night and as he was passing a disreputable house at No. 14 Island street, Susie Calkins stepped to the door and threw out her troll net for his capture. The patrolman was particularly fascinating on that occasion and Susie put forth her best efforts to captivate him. When she found her wiles unavailing and not knowing he was an officer, she made an indignant and unlady-like remark to him. The officer arrested her and yesterday she paid $10 and costs in police court on a charge of disorderly.

Fined for Obstructing an Officer.
John Brower was in police court yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct in connection with Officer McDonald's arrest of Edgar Bloom on West Leonard street. He denied the charge, and although having been instructed to do so, had no witnesses or attorney when his case was called. He simply denied the allegations of the officer as to his interference at the time the arrest was made. Judge Haggerty said under the circumstances he would have to take the officer's evidence in preference to that of the prisoner. Brower was fined $10 and costs.

Escaped From the Reform School.
The superintendent of the Lansing reform school telegraphed to the police department yesterday that John Braxmaver of this city and Bert Aiken of Jackson had escaped from that institution, and requested the authorities to take them into custody. Detective Kennedy found them in the afternoon and they were locked up in jail. The superintendent was notified and he sent a return message saying that he would start for this city on the 3:30 a. m. train to take the boys back to the institution.

Wohlmut Paid $20.
Fred Wohlmut, one of the boys who interfered with Officer McDonald while he was arresting Edgar Bloom a few nights ago, on West Leonard, for a breach of the peace, was in police court yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $10 and costs, or in default of payment to be confined in the county jail for 30 days. He paid the fine.

Arabs in Trouble.
George Dell and the wife of Anton Maman, two Arabs of Grandville, were before Justice DeWolfe yesterday on a charge of unlawful collection. The accused parties pleaded not guilty and their examination was set for August 19.

His Examination Adjourned.
The case of the people against Willy

Van Regenauer, charged with larceny, was called in Justice DeWolfe's court yesterday. Two witnesses for the people were sworn and the further examination was adjourned until this morning. Van Regenauer was arrested some time ago for stealing a watch from Henry Huber at Reed's lake.

Will Be Examined.
James Taylor and Charles Anderson were arraigned in Justice DeWolfe's court yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct at Reed's lake Sunday. They pleaded not guilty and their examination was set for Aug. 18. They were released on their own recognizance.

Police Court Notes.
Charles O'Dowd, a police court chronic, was committed to jail yesterday for thirty days upon a conviction in police court of drunk and disorderly. The examination of Fred Brogger on a charge of keeping his saloon open on Sunday, was adjourned yesterday in police court until August 23.

Trusts.

Trusts are not due to protection. This is shown by the fact that the great Mecca of combinations of all kinds is free trade Great Britain.

They are the product of a human weakness common to all men, in every country and under every political system—cupidity.

Combination is the recognized natural tendency of the day. It is natural for men to combine where they see an opportunity for their own profit, and they will do this whether there be a tariff or not, as all impartial judges, even free traders, will admit.

Protection is no friend of trusts; in fact, it is essentially opposed to them. It prevents the formation of international combinations, for which there could be no destructive remedy, and guarantees men who wish to compete with a trust a fair field and chance for competition. By protection also trusts are placed within the reach of our own laws; placed where they can be attacked and destroyed by the strong arm of the government.

Free trade, on the other hand, either leads to the establishment of international combinations, or by destroying an industry in this country and causing us to become dependent for the product of that industry on a few foreigners puts us at the mercy of a foreign trust from which there can be no escape, and which of course no legislation of ours can reach.

This is entirely in harmony with the ordinary free trade programme—to subject us in everything to the domination of the foreigner.

The only effective remedy for combinations is a radical antitrust law, such as that already passed by a protectionist congress.

Not Used to It.

Abner Stone had lived "inland" all his days, and knew all there was to be known about pork and beef as articles of food. His acquaintance with the products of the sea, on the other hand, was very slight—in fact it was confined to one lobster, which his younger brother, Wilson, had brought up to the farm from Bayport one summer when he came up for a short visit.

Abner had enjoyed that lobster amazingly, and it was in some measure his praise of this fish that led Wilson to press his brother to "make him a call" the next autumn or spring and "eat his fill" of fish. "There's heaps of things better'n lobsters," Wilson averred. "There's shad, now; I reckon you'd find shad would relish pretty fair."

"Yes, indeed, he'd order: eat some of our shad," chimed in Mrs. Wilson Stone; and the next spring, with thoughts of shad in his mind, Abner went down to Bayport.

He had a tiresome journey, for he was not used to traveling, and when he reached Bayport at night he was more than ready for bed.

"You're goin' to have some shad in the mornin'," remarked Mrs. Wilson Stone as she bade him good night.

The promise was kept, but somehow Abner did not seem to enjoy the delicacy as his brother had expected. In fact, he ate so little of it that Wilson said at last, "Don't ye like it, Ab, after all?"

"Well," said the old farmer, with a brave attempt at a smile, "I calculate I shall when I get kinder wonted to it; mebbe, but it does seem, just at first, ye know, considerable like tryin' to eat a paper of buttered pine!"—Youth's Companion.

DON'T DOSE THE BABY.
When She Is Sick It Is Usually
From Want of Proper Diet.

In Fort Ann, N. Y., there is a flourishing bit of babyhood with bright cheeks, fat and round as one of Blake's dream-children, who owes her health and happiness, like thousands of other children in this country, to lactated food. Fortunately the time has gone by when people believe that if baby was sick baby needed a dose of medicine.

People have begun to learn that medicines for infants are in physicians' families than in any other and that the average physician, when the mother's milk, for any reason, is not quite sufficient, brings up his own children on lactated food.

Mrs. Lucy D. Farr, the mother of the pretty baby whose likeness is here given, writes for publication:
"Lactated food is everything that it is recommended to be. My little girl Frances was fed on it from five months old. She was a very delicate baby but as soon as she was put on the food she thrived wonderfully and now has very hard flesh, though, in addition to teething, she has had scarlet fever, whooping cough and la grippe. My physician says, of all the foods lactated food is the best."

The Field of Gettysburg is to the old soldier and the student the most interesting of all the earth's battle grounds. Those who go to Washington to attend the encampment of the G. A. R. in September, will have the best opportunity of visiting Gettysburg by taking the line of the Michigan Central and the Northern Central, which includes a side trip to Gettysburg either going or returning. For those who wish to return by way of Philadelphia, all return tickets will be honored either via the short line or via Philadelphia, allowing stop-over at Baltimore, Philadelphia and Harrisburg. The stop at Philadelphia will permit of a side trip to New York and return at the low rate of $4.00.

During the summer season the Michigan Central gives the privilege of stopping over at Niagara Falls at any time within the life of the ticket returning, upon depositing it with the ticket agent there, affording a valuable opportunity to see the beauties of the great cataract and vicinity at leisure.

Tickets are also sold to Washington via Toledo and the lines south and east therefrom.

The Michigan Central is the shortest route, the best route, and offers inducements that no other line can give. For any additional information apply to nearest Michigan Central ticket agent or to J. S. Hall, Mich. Pass. Agent, Jackson, Mich.

"Royal Ruby" Port Wine.

No good thing should be outlawed because here and there a grasping person treats it badly. It is just as necessary to administer invigorators to the aged and feeble as it is to strengthen a dwelling that is beginning to decay. Not only may life be greatly prolonged by artificial support, but the declining years of those near and dear to us be rendered more comfortable, and age relieved of many of its usual pains and penalties by a judicious use of "Royal Ruby" Port Wine; each bottle is guaranteed by the undersigned to be absolutely pure and over five years old at bottling, or money paid for it will be refunded. Quart bottles $1.00; pints 60 cts; never sold in bulk. For sale by White & White, Thurn Bros., & Schmidt, leading druggists. Bottled by Royal Wine Co., Chicago.

Seasonable Goods

Just as surely as the earth brings forth different fruits in their seasons so surely will appropriate goods appear in our popular stores. The lengthening shadows call your attention to our stock of Lamps, which in variety, excellence, beauty, merit and cheapness excel all our previous offerings. The Banquet Lamp seems to be coming into general use, as it is tall enough to illuminate a room and its powerful burner gives great satisfaction. In Hanging Lamps more of the central draft are used than ever before, so a single lamp is as good as a three light chandelier. Table Lamps, decorated with shades to match, are extremely popular and it is astonishing to see how handsome a lamp of this kind we can sell you for only one dollar.
